KIT CARSON.

JESSIE BENTON FREMONT'S RECOLLECTIONS OF THE GREAT SCOUT.

The broad piazza of our home at St Louis was always the welcome gathering-place of trappers and hunters, as well as the traders to Santa Fe, and mountain men generally. With these my father loved to talk and gain the knowledge afterwards put to such good use. There also narratives of endurance, sagacity, daring, and self-relying courage were told in the quiet, matter-of-course manner of men to whom the opposite qualities were unknown.

When Washington Irving was about to make his journey in the Indian country, he was often at our house while in St. Louis, and his comments on the simplicity as well as the fine courage of these men was my first perception that there was anything unusual in them. I am not qualified to do justice to the best of these; only men that share their lives can do so. But as a child in St. Louis, then in our winter home in Washington, and for many years after on our own frontier, on that of California, and in long weeks of camping-out travel, I had many opportunities of knowing them well. They were "princes in their way," as one of said to me when he had his feelings hurt by a man of high position in Washington. "Who would have thought it of him; such a fine-looking gentleman, too. They are great men here—princes in their way; but when they come out to the plains we are the princes, and they could not live without us."

When King John tried to collect revenues by requiring each noble to produce his titles and written deeds, or failing forfeit them to the crown, an old earl's answer was charming. He drew his great sword and flung it on the table before the king's envoys:

"Tell your master I am no clerk, nor were my ancestors before me. These lands are ours by the sword, and by the sword we will hold them."

So with our mountain men; they were not clerks, but great men.

One of them, to whom I had been reading Mazeppa, said to me:

"Read that part again where he comes back with twice five hundred men to thank him for his courteous ride. That's the way I felt when the Blackfeet destroyed my cachés, and I went back and thanked them for it. Now, if I had had reading like that I might have made a scholar I was a young boy in the school-house when the cry came, 'Indians!' I jumped to my rifle and threw down the spelling book, and there it lays."

Our good, dear friend Carson made his mark true and high, however, without the need of any more scholarship than the frontier school-house gave.

His instinct was true and delicate, and led him to acts as correctly courteous as the most thorough training could do.

When the first boat that had ever rested on the lonely, silent waters of the Salt Lake made its way to the island near the centre, and the man at the bow was jumping ashore to draw her up, Carson held him down with "the Captain steps there first."

I liked greatly an expression of his, referring to a man who had done him a mischief. "If ever I get the chance, I will do him an honest injury." Nothing that was not honest and fair, and open, and of good repute, found its place in his wholesome nature.

Carson had eminently the nature that comes from gentleness combined with strength, from that innate sense of justice which gives to others what we require for ourselves, from a healthy nature to which cheerfulness is so natural that instinctively they feel its lack and seek to impart it. To such a nature the morbid, the nervous, the heartsick and weary, come and are comforted, and feel as invalids do when they get into those favored climates where an even temperature and the certainty of daily returning sunshine and no surprises of frosts or rains insensibly bring calm and healing. Such a nature attracts to itself and retains only what is best in all its meets; and as the character engraves itself upon the countenance, so the many years since I had seen Carson had done their ennobling work so effectually that my old friend was perfectly in keeping with the beautiful library of the friend's house in which we met again. He had lived what we idealize in writing and love to read of. And about him, too, was the dignity of coming death.

I had been written to from Washington that Carson was there, ill and depressed; that he had not consulted a physician yet, but thought he had had the heart injured in an accident; and that if I would urge him to come to me and be well nursed and see a physician something might yet be done, although his condition seemed very serious. Carson had been for years an important part of my life, when it was all filled with energetic action, and when true friends in the old home watched for and protected the absent, and welcome them back on the return from long dangers; and now that death, and political differences as relentless, and the war had completely ended that life. I saw for the last time one of the few who had not changed from that old time of youth, and health and friends and a complete home.

But Carson was only troubled by my emotions, and told me with his own simplicity of courage that he had seen Dr. Savre, who told him that he might live as much his home (at Taos, near Santa Fe,) but that he might also die at any moment, as the heart was fatally injured by the accident from which Carson dated his illness. In trying to save a mule he had become wound in its lariat, and both fell together over a steep precipice, Carson's left side getting the blow as he fell on the rocks below. His open-air and absolutely temperate life delayed the inevitable end. He only wish now was to get home, and not let his wife have the shock of hearing of his death.

"Yesterday I thought I was gone," he told me. The Indian chief who was with him in his room told him what he had said—he himself only knew that all at once "he felt the bed rise with him and with a "drowning feeling," but with a new, strange element which made him cry out, "Lord Jesus have mercy!" "I do not know I said it, but I know I might, for it's only the Lord can help me where I am now."

The chief had taken him from the bed and carried him to an open window. "I noticed he was crying. 'What's that for?' I asked him. 'Because you looked dead, and you called Lord Jesus.'"

I give this much of our dear old friends' last sacred talk with me because those who knew him best were the most pained by the singularly untrue use made of his name by one incapable of understanding him. And as Old Mortality kept the moss from hiding the inscriptions on the tombs he cared for, so it is needful that some should not allow the fungus growth on honored names.

Carson did not reach home. And his wife did feel the shock he had hoped to soften to her; she even felt it so much that she died. Then Carson's friends at the fort made him come to stay where they and the surgeon of the post might do all they could to lessen his sufferings. And so, surrounded by his friends and love and honor, his end came.

His wife was one of the good New Mexican Spanish families, and their children belong with the most respected and wealthy old settlers there, although Carson's post as Indian Superintendent left him no richer than when he was only guide and hunter.

General Sherman, who was among his most valued and attached friends, had the good fortune to be able to offer a free scholarship in an Ohio College to one son. He, I am sure, and all who knew Carson best, when they hear him spoken of will not think of him only as the brave man, or the great hunter, or the cool, sagacious, admirable guide, but first and tenderly as their "Dear old Kit."

Mark Twain's Hotel.

Having lately opened a hashery, I send you these, my rules and regulations:—

This house shall be considered strictly inn-temperate.

None but the brave deserve the fare.

Persons owing bills for board, will be bored for bills.

Boarders, who do not wish to pay in advance, are requested to advance and pay.

Boarders are expected to wait on the colored cook—for meals.

Sheets will be nightly changed once in six months, or more if necessary.

Double boarders can have two beds with a room in it, or two rooms with a bed in it, as they choose.

Boarders are requested to pull off their boots before retiring, if they can conveniently do so.

Beds, with or without bugs.

All monies and other valuables are to left in care of proprietor. This is insisted, as on he will be responsible for no other losses.

Inside matter will not be furnished for editors under any consideration.

Relatives, coming to make a six months' visit, will be welcomed; but when they bring half of their household furniture, virtue will cease to be a forbearance.

Single men with their families, will not be boarded.

Beds, with or without boards.

Dreams will be charged for by the dozen.

Nightmares hired out at reasonable rates.

Stone vaults will be furnished to snoring boarders, as the proprietor will in no wise be responsible for the broken tin-pan-ums of other ears.

A Sermon on Push.

When cousin Will was at home for vacation the boys always expected plenty of fun. The last frolic before he went back to his studies was a long tramp after hazel-nuts. As they were hurrying along in high glee, they came upon a discouraged-looking man and a discouraged-looking cart. The cart was standing before an orchard. The man was trying to pull it up the hill to his house. The boys did not wait to be invited, but ran to help with a good will. "Push! push!" was the cry.

The man brightened up; the cart trundled along as fast as rheumatism would do it, and in five minutes they all stood panting at the top of the hill.

"Obliged to ye," said the man; "you just wait a minute," and he hurried into the house, where two or three pink-aproned children peeped out of the door.

"Now boys," said Cousin Will, "this is a small thing, but I wish we could all take a motto out of it, and keep it for life. 'Push!' it is just the word for a grand, clear morning."

"If anybody is in trouble and you see it, don't stand back; push!"

"Whenever there's a kind thing, a Christian thing, a happy thing, a pleasant thing, whether it is your own or not, whether it is at home or in town, at church or at school, just help with all your might; push!"

At that moment the farmer came out with a dish of his wife's best doughnuts, and a dish of his own best apples; and that was the end of the little sermon.

Medicinal.

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Pedee, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkable also during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type setters, Gold beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of physic can possibly long exist after the use of these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.
